

What is this about?

Sport England and Traverse are working together.

They want to talk to people from different communities about sport and physical activity.

Traverse and Sport England want to hear people's stories.

They want to know what makes it easy or difficult for you to be active.

Your stories will help them to make an Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Strategy for Sport England. This is a plan of what to do to make things better.

If you decide to take part, you can choose to do a survey (which means answering questions online), or an interview, or you can be part of a focus group (a group interview). You can choose whichever you prefer.

You will be paid if you take part.

Who do you want to take part?

We want to talk to adults – people aged 18 years and older.

The adults should identify with at least one of these:

- Disabled people and people with long-term conditions.

- Neurodivergent people and people with learning difficulties or disabilities.

- LGBTQ+ community and people who have undergone gender reassignment.

- Diverse cultural communities or racialised communities.

What must I do?

If you want to take part in this research, click this link to complete the application form – https://magpielanding.traverse.org.uk/surveys/SportEngland_EDIregistration

You will hear back from us if chosen to take part.

You can fill out the form on the phone with us if it's easier.
